Innovation In Learning at the UN Secretariat

In the last couple years, the Learning and Career Support team has developed innovative ways to improve access to OHRM information through the creation of web and mobile applications. Always keeping the needs of staff in mind, the team has so far developed an online Global Induction Platform, an online Preretirement Checklist, a mobile app for UN Emergency Notifications, a web app for Visa Information, as well as productivity and data analytics tools to support some of the team’s internal processes. Is there something you would like to see transformed into a web or mobile application? Send your ideas to learning@un.org.

Lynda.com video of the month: Understanding the benefits of User-Centered Design
