The United Nations Secretariat Announces the 2017 Young Professionals Programme for (NAME OF COUNTRY)

DATE, 2017 – COUNTRY NAME is pleased to announce the participation of its nationals in the 2017 Young Professionals Programme (YPP).

The UN Young Professionals Programme (YPP) is an entry exam for future young professionals to start a career as an international civil servant in the United Nations Secretariat.

Eva Jansen, the UN Secretariat YPP Coordinator: “We are delighted to see many young professionals in diverse areas find their place in the UN by successfully passing the YPP. We hope to attract more qualified candidates from un- and under-represented countries, to apply and join the UN’s workforce.”

In 2017, 60 countries including NAME OF COUNTRY are invited to participate in the YPP. The exam will cover the following job networks:

1) Political, Peace and Humanitarian;
2) Management and Administration;
3) Public Information and Conference Management.

Nationals of XXX with a Bachelor’s degree or at least a 3-year equivalent degree relevant to the three fields who are 32 years or younger and fluent in English and/or French are strongly encouraged to apply. Applications will be accepted by the UN Secretariat from 23 June to 22 August 2017 on its online recruitment platform: careers.un.org
