

Frequently Asked Questions UN Language Proficiency Exam (LPE)

1. Where do I obtain information and instructions on how to register for the UN LPE in inspira?

All information and instructions a candidate will need to register for the UN LPE can be found on the LPE website on the HR Portal: hr.un.org/page/language-proficiencyexamination-lpe. There you will find which agencies and test sites are participating, the contact information for each local administrator, policy guidance, eligibility criteria, templates of needed forms, and detailed instruction on how to register in inspira (including screenshots) for both internal UN Secretariat staff members and external applicants. Simply click on the relevant section to find the information you need.

2. Am I eligible for the LPE if I have not taken any language courses and I do not use the language regularly at work, but I speak the language at home, with my child or with my spouse?

No, using the language at home does not fulfill the eligibility criteria.

3. May I take the LPE in my mother tongue?

As stated in ST AI 2021 1, staff members whose 'mother tongue' is one of the official languages of the United Nations need not take the examination in that language.

They may demonstrate adequate knowledge in another UN official language by passing the Language Proficiency Examination in any of those languages, including that in which they are required to be proficient by the terms of their appointment. In no instance will UN Secretariat staff members receive language allowance for the LPE taken in what they indicated in UN records is their mother tongue.

4. How do I know which is my mother tongue in my UN official records?

The determination of mother tongue was made by the UN staff members at the time of UN employment and was officially recorded at the time of recruitment and noted in his or her official status file. Only one language can be officially recognized as the staff member's mother tongue. Once recorded by the UN, staff members are not permitted to change the officially recognized mother tongue. If you do not recall what you indicated in your official UN records regarding your mother tongue, please contact your HR officer. Such records are not handled by SAS.

If you need further clarification, please contact UNDP directly.

24. Where do we find the details on how our exam is scored?

These letters are sent from the inspira support centre directly to the candidate's inspira email address after the results are finalized for all candidates, usually in late February following the written exam in September. The results letters provide a numerical breakdown of how a candidate performed in each section of the exam. Many candidates find the result helpful, as a way to assess current strengths and weakness, and as a basis for continued language learning. The decision of the LPE Board of Examiners is FINAL, and requests to have an exam re-scored will not be considered.

25. What are some of the reasons that I can be disqualified from the current LPE examination?

A candidate may be disqualified from the current LPE exam if he/she does not follow the rules established for the LPE exam. The 2021 Language Proficiency Exam (LPE) is based on UN Level III of the United Nations Language Framework \(UNLF\) established by the UN Secretariat in 2020 and relates to UN Level III of Language Competence overall as defined by specific descriptors for all six UN official languages (Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Russian, and Spanish.) The annual exam is administered online and the exam tests language proficiency, not knowledge or expertise in any particular field.

26. What is the content of the LPE?

The LPE measures language proficiency by testing the same types of tasks/functions that users are expected to do at UN Level III – Advanced Language Competence. 27. What is the structure of the LPE?

The LPE exam consists of four sections: reading, listening, writing, and speaking. This structural organization is based on receptive activities (reading and listening) and production/interaction activities (writing and speaking).

Candidates must achieve a minimum of 15 points in each section, and a total score of 65 points or above to pass the exam. The reading and listening sections are scored automatically by the platform. The writing and speaking sections are scored by graders according to three main criteria: 1) Task fulfilment – how well the production follows the task instructions, including in terms of length, organization and coherence; 2) Language range and appropriacy – the use of a range of vocabulary and structures at UN Level III; 3) Language accuracy – grammatical and syntactic accuracy, spelling and punctuation.
